Re: 2014-15 School Calendar – Days Added Back

Dear Parents and Staff,

As you may be aware, the State Education Department requires all public schools to be in attendance a minimum of 180 days each year. To date, the District has used all three of our potential emergency snow days, which now leaves our school calendar at exactly 180 days.

The impending forecast for additional snow and foul weather leads us to believe we may have additional cancelled school days in the months of February and March 2015. Therefore, in order to give you the greatest amount of time to prepare for adjustments to our remaining school calendar, please note the following:

1 – There will be no adjustments to the February 2015 recess period. Schools will be closed Monday, February 16 – Friday, February 20.

2 – Should there be additional emergency snow days, causing schools to be closed, this is the order the days will be added back to the school calendar and schools will be open for students and staff:

One snow day, all schools will be open Friday, April 10, 2015 (first additional snow day)

Next snow day, all schools will be open Thursday, April 9, 2015 (second additional snow day)

Next snow day, all schools will be open Wednesday, April 8, 2015 (third additional snow day)

Next snow day, all schools will be open Tuesday, April 7, 2015 (fourth additional snow day)

Next snow day, all schools will be open Monday, April 6, 2015 (fifth additional snow day)

3 – Due to contractual obligations with a negotiated bargaining union contract, school cannot be in session on, and the District will be closed on:

Friday, April 3, 2015

Friday, May 22, 2015

As noted above, this information is being provided to you at this time for you to prepare for adjustments to the school calendar only, and any potential school closure will be determined at the appropriate time.

Thank you for your anticipated cooperation.
